

Why does it seem like Hollywood has fired all the real talent and replaced them with algorithms and paste scripts of “diverse” characters and burnt on seeing these same, rarely watch a new movie. it’s bullshit because they female lead who can any feat with her effeminate mammy who has now been being propagated. These new technical writers who copy & together with the same cast politicized storylines? I’m so “diverse” characters that I Ten minutes in and you know done trotted out the blond nonsensically accomplish male sidekick and masculine evolved to reflect the agenda movies are not entertaining.

People watch TV and movies escape reality. They don’t see people who have been pampered their whole lives and never told no, telling them how they should think, feel, and live and if they don’t support that agenda their canceled—meaning their very means of survival may be taken away, their homes foreclosed on, family attacked etc. Over the top consequences for not agreeing with the pampered elites.

to be entertained and to want to turn on a screen and

These decadent elites, who always see themselves as the smartest in the room, underestimate America’s need for entertainment—our need to escape the monotony of 24 hour blanket advertising, inequality, racial profiling, and the lies of politicians on the lame stream news every night. As long as this group holds the reins in Hollywood, you can forget about any new movies or tv being good. and since they are super rich and own all the platforms, they ‘ll censor and gate-keep any true art or entertaining stories.

I’ve resigned myself to watching old movies, when a movie was just a movie and you could kick off your shoes and be vulnerable enough to enjoy it. You better start collecting DVDS of old movies, their gonna be worth something. after this group of decadent superrich, virtue signaling elites finish shitting on the entertainment industry, these will be all that’s left of what was quality American entertainment.
